Academic Integrity at UCSD for CSE291 H00

Please read this form CAREFULLY and then sign it. It is your responsibility to understand everything in this agreement. If you do not understand anything, please talk with your instructor immediately. Violation of any of the items below will result in an integrity violation report and an F in the course.

Academic Integrity at UCSD

The following is an excerpt from the UCSD General Catalog section on Academic Dishonesty (http://senate.ucsd.edu/Operating-Procedures/Senate-Manual/Appendices/2): STUDENTS' RESPONSIBILITIES Students are expected to complete the course in compliance with the instructor’s standards. No student shall engage in any activity that involves attempting to receive a grade by means other than honest effort, for example: No student shall knowingly procure, provide, or accept any materials that contain questions or answers to any examination or assignment to be given at a subsequent time. No student shall complete, in part or in total, any examination or assignment for another person. No student shall knowingly allow any examination or assignment to be completed, in part or in total, for himself or herself by another person. No student shall plagiarize or copy the work of another person and submit it as his or her own work. No student shall employ aids excluded by the instructor in undertaking course work. No student shall alter graded class assignments or examinations and then resubmit them for regrading. No student shall submit substantially the same material in more than one course without prior authorization. A student acting in the capacity of an instructional assistant (IA), including but not limited to teaching assistants, readers, and tutors, has a special responsibility to safeguard the integrity of scholarship. In these roles the student functions as an apprentice instructor, under the tutelage of the responsible instructor. An IA shall equitably grade student work in the manner agreed upon with the course instructor. An IA shall not make any unauthorized material related to tests, exams, homeworks, etc. available to any student.

Academic Integrity in CSE 291 (READ CAREFULLY!)

The following are additional examples not listed in the General Catalog specific to this course: * No student shall provide their assignments, in part or in total, to any other student in current or future classes of this course. No student shall procure or accept assignments from any other student from current or prior classes of this course, or any other person who possesses answers to these or similar assignments. * Students shall not use any part of an assignment solutions completed for a previous version of this course or in another previous course, whether completed by the same student or another student. A student repeating this course must do all assignments from scratch, without referring to previous solutions, even if they were written by the same student. * No student shall obtain code in part or in whole from any source other than the code explicitly provided by the instructor. In particular, no student shall use code found on any internet site other than the course site unless explicitly authorized by the instructor. * All programming code and documentation submitted for evaluation or existing inside the student’s computer accounts must be the student’s original work or material specifically authorized by the instructor. The course accounts are authorized for course work only. * Collaborating with other students to develop, complete or correct course work is limited to activities explicitly authorized by the instructor. Use of your own previous course work or other student’s course work, in part or in total, to develop, complete or correct course work, including documentation, is unauthorized. * Use of texting or messaging services or Internet sites like Pastebin or GitHub or similar systems to share or publish course files in part or in total is unauthorized. Unless otherwise explicitly authorized, each student is completely responsible to keep their code, homework, design files and other course work off of Internet sites. * No student shall discuss the content or answers of any exam or quiz with any other student enrolled in any section of this course who has not yet taken the exam until after all the exams are graded and returned. No student shall discuss the content or answers of any exam or quiz before that student has taken the exam. This policy applies to both in-class exams, and online quizzes, even though exam versions between sections will be different.
